this book explores the development of Robert Lepage's distinctive approach to stage direction in the early 1984-1994 and middle 1995-2008 stages of his career, arguing that globalisation had a defining effect on shaping his aesthetic and his professional trajectory. In addition to globalisation theory, the book draws on cinema studies, queer theory and theories of affect and reception. Each of six chapters treats a particular aspect of globalisation, using this as a means to explore one or more of Lepage's productions. Productions discussed include the dragon's trilogy, needles and opium and the far side of the moon, making theatre global. Robert Lepage's original stage productions will be of interest to scholars of contemporary theatre advanced level undergraduates and arts lovers keen for new perspectives on one of the most talked about theatre artists of the early 21st century this book theorizes auteur robert lepage's scenography based approach to adapting canonical texts lepage's technique is defined here as scenographic dramaturgy a process and product that de privileges dramatic text and relies instead on evocative visual performance and intercultural collaboration to re envision extant plays and operas following a detailed analysis of lepage's adaptive process and its place in the continuum of scenic writing and auteur theatre this book features four case studies charting the role of lepage's scenographic dramaturgy in re writing extant texts including shakespeare's tempest on huron wendat territory stravinsky's nightingale in a twenty seven ton pool and wagner's ring cycle via the infamous sixteen million dollar metropolitan opera production the final case study offers the first interrogation of lepage's twenty first century auto adaptations of his own seminal texts the dragons trilogy and needles opium though aimed at academic readers this book will also appeal to practitioners given its focus on performance making adaptation and intercultural collaboration
